ReportBuilder—It's a SNAP!

Everybody Wins!

Where Do I Find That? !!!!

It's the same old story, someone needs some scheduling information and you are rifling through pages and pages of Daily Field Reports trying to find the dates you need. Then, after you find the dates, you handwrite or type them onto a report. You spent three hours printing, searching and typing. You ask yourself...Wouldn't it be nice if this was automatic?

Check it Out

Put ReportBuilder to work and see how much easier life can be with automatic reports.

Make a Closings report for sales; an Options Cutoff report for use in the sales office this weekend; a Subcontractor Prioritized List report; an All Lots 5-Days or More Behind report or a Cycle-Time report. There are literally hundreds of possibilities just waiting for you to ask for them.

Don't be Afraid!

Don't be afraid because you can talk to ReportBuilder in plain English. Simply tell it what you want to see during a specific time period and you will instantly have the report you want.

With ReportBuilder's report "naming and saving" features, you can give each person or department the reports they want to see. Once you make and save a report, just click a button and the latest information rolls right in.

Yes, everyone can have a different report. Or, better yet, each department can have their own copy of ReportBuilder to run their own Reports whenever they want them.

ReportBuilder to the Rescue

Here is a great way to put us to the test. Gather up a few of those pesky reports and send them our way. We will be more than happy to demonstrate, through a Web presentation, just how quick and easy it is.

Using ReportBuilder's customizable report features you will build and manage reports that previously took hours to construct.
